Canada Provincial Nominee Program (PNP)

Entrepreneur Stream

An opportunity for experienced entrepreneurs to establish a business and obtain permanent residency in Canada

2026

CANADA

What are PNP programs?

The Provincial Nominee Programs (PNPs) allow Canadian provinces to select immigrants who meet their economic needs and help them settle permanently. The Entrepreneur Stream (PNP) in each province focuses on experienced entrepreneurs who wish to start or purchase a business in one of Canada's provinces and obtain permanent residency for themselves and their families.

This program enables provinces to attract capital and create jobs while providing opportunities for entrepreneurs to develop and expand their businesses. It's a win-win situation for both sides, as provinces benefit from economic growth and entrepreneurs gain a pathway to permanent residency.

At NovaNest Venture, we guide you through every step from selecting, analyzing, and evaluating your business idea, preparing a business plan, obtaining invitation to apply, submitting a work visa application, and entering Canada, to finally applying for permanent residency.

NovaNest

Since 2017

Process

Business Idea Assessment

Evaluate the growth potential and profitability of your business idea in the Canadian market, and assess its long-term success prospects.

Selecting the Right Province

Choose the most suitable province based on your personal goals, market opportunities, program requirements, and available investment capital.

Developing a Business Plan

Prepare a comprehensive business plan that includes market analysis, revenue model, marketing strategy, financial projections, and a clear growth plan.

Submitting an Expression of Interest

Submit an Expression of Interest to the selected province to express your intent to apply and enter the initial assessment pool.

Receiving an Invitation to Apply (ITA)

If selected from the EOI pool, you will receive an official Invitation to Apply from the province to submit your complete application and final business plan.

Obtaining a LOS & Applying Work Permit

Once your application is approved and the Performance Agreement signed, the province issues a Letter of Support for you to apply for a temporary work permit to start your business in Canada.

Establishing and Operating the Business

Arrive in Canada, launch your business, create jobs, manage operations, and meet the commitments outlined in your Performance Agreement.

Applying for Permanent Residence

After successfully operating your business and meeting provincial requirements, you'll receive a Provincial Nomination to apply for permanent residence for you and family.

Can my family come with me?

Yes, your spouse will accompany you with an open work permit, and your children with study permits.

Can I join the Provincial Entrepreneur Program by starting a business, or only by buying one?

The program allows international entrepreneurs to obtain permanent residency in Canada by either starting a new business or buying an existing one in a selected province.

Can my children study for free in Canada?

Yes, your children can attend public schools in Canada free of charge.

What are the eligibility requirements?

Applicants usually need to:

- Have managerial experience or business ownership
- Be able to invest in the selected province
- Meet minimum English or French language requirements (around IELTS 4)

Which provinces are currently popular for starting a business?

Popular provinces include:

- British Columbia (Vancouver)
- Ontario (Toronto)
- New Brunswick

What is the minimum investment required?

The amount varies by province, typically between CAD 100,000 and 300,000 for starting or buying a business depending on program criteria and location.

Is a language certificate required?

Yes, a minimum English or French proficiency of CLB 4 is required for eligibility and application processing.

Is it possible to pay the investment in installments?

Yes, most provinces allow gradual investment payments or staged entrepreneurial support under specific conditions and program guidelines.

What types of businesses are accepted in different provinces?

Each province has specific economic needs. Typically, businesses that create jobs and economic growth are preferred, such as:

- Local services
- Retail stores and restaurants
- Technology and digital businesses
- Tourism-related ventures and franchises

What is the difference between provincial and federal programs?

Provincial programs are designed to meet the economic needs and employment opportunities of each province. The requirements and minimum investment may differ from federal programs.

Is it mandatory to continue working in the same business after obtaining permanent residency?

Until you receive your Nomination and PR, the business must remain active. After receiving PR, there are no strict restrictions or legal obligations.

When can I apply for permanent residence after starting my business?

From the time the business is launched, it usually takes between 6 to 20 months, depending on the province.

What factors may lead to an application being refused?

- Insufficient financial documentation
- Lack of managerial or business experience
- Failure to meet investment and employment requirements
- Incomplete language documentation
